

PERFORMING ARTS

With 37 named characters, a constant circus of performing elephants, tigers and pigs and multiple crowd scenes, the ensemble cast of All the Fun of the Fair (just 17 girls) played to an enthusiast house at Nottingham Arts Theatre last week. Led ably by Nikki Brazier, as Lord George Sanger, all the team created fast moving, highly disciplined snippets of the great showman's art with slick delivery of lines and effective creation of character.

Thanks go to Mrs McEwen, Zivi Christian and Jessica-Renée Thompson for fantastic costumes, to all the staff who have supported backstage and front of house as well as those who made and collected great quantities of astounding properties but special congratulations is due to Mr Kay who not only directed the girls but wrote the show based on the factual life of the archetypal nineteenth century showman. Well done to all!
